BASIS FOR REJECTIONS

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

- (a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.
- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- (c) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

REJECTION OF CLAIMS OVER PRIOR ART

Claims 1, 6, 7 and 22-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Stowe (1,894,800). A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 939, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). The feed system 15, 16, 56 clamps the work 12 and feeds the work into the impact system 10 while the impact system is rotated about the circumference of the work 12 so as to uniformly swage the exterior of the work (see page 2, column 1, lines 10-17, and the paragraph bridging columns 1 and 2 of the same page). Since Stowe contemplates any number of clamp jaws 18 (see page 2, column 2, first full paragraph), symmetrical opening and closing of the clamp would be foreseen.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stowe (1,894,800) in view of Romanov (3,845,650). Stowe shows that the drive for the feed system is a fluid cylinder. Screw feeds are known in the art as evidenced by Romanov at 44, such facilitating an accurate feed of the work. It would have been obvious to the skilled artisan at the time of the invention to have modified Stowe's feed system drive mechanism by using a screw drive using the concepts taught by Romanov for the noted motivation.

Claims 22, 24 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ribback (3,044,326). In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 312 F.2d 937, 939, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). See the Figures where the work is fed into the dies 2, 2a while causing the dies to impact the work while rotating the dies on the rotatable support 1.

Claims 22, 24 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Helgerson (6,296,633) in view of Ribback (3,044,326). Helgerson illustrates a bad 30 joined to a catheter 20. Ribback shows a tool having the capability of crimping elongated cylindrical work using a tool that uniformly reduces the cross section of the work. It would have been obvious to the skilled artisan at the time of the invention to have modified Helgerson's process by using a crimping tool of the type shown by Ribback for the noted motivation thus, reducing the cost of manufacture and improving the construction of the reduced cylindrical cross section.

INDICATION OF ALLOWABLE SUBJECT MATTER

Claims 3-5 and 8-21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

PRIOR ART CITED BY EXAMINER

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

RESPONSE BY APPLICANT(S)

Applicant(s) response to be fully responsive and to provide for a clear record must specifically point out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references, both those references applied in the objections and rejections and those references cited in view of the state of the art in accordance with 37 CFR 1.111 (a), (b) and (c).
